Located between the Great Barrier Reef and the Daintree National Park is Cooya Beach (Kuyu Kuyu). It is a magical place that is the traditional fishing grounds for the local Aboriginal people the Kuku Yalanji.

Avoid the crowds and experience traditional Aboriginal hunting and gathering techniques. Learn about the abundance of food and medicine that can be found in this picturesque piece of paradise.

Following the traditions of their ancestors Linc and Brandon Walker will educate you about Kuku Yalanji coastal survival whilst experiencing the culture first hand.

Cancellation policy for this tour; outside 48 hours before departure full refund is given or less than 48 hours prior to departure a 100% cancellation fee will apply
